GOLD FOR SASKATCHEWAN!!

Team Saskatchewan captured the gold medal at the 2023 Canadian Wheelchair Championship, defeating team Northern Ontario in a 6-2 final on March 24th, 2023. Saskatchewan stole in four out of the eight ends, only letting Northern Ontario score singles in the fourth and seventh ends. Saskatchewan was up four points with the hammer coming home in the eighth end and ran Northern Ontario out of rocks.

“It feels great to win the 2023 Canadian Wheelchair Championship!” said Saskatchewan skip Gil Dash. “It’s at home, in front of friends and family, in a great facility, with a huge number of volunteers who did an awesome job, officials, everything was good! It wasn’t easy! All these teams are very evenly matched with so many at the top and we pulled it off.”

This is the fourth national title for Team Saskatchewan, and fourth for Dash, Marie Wright and Darwin Bender, who were a part of Saskatchewan’s previous victories in 2012, 2016 and 2018. They now share the record with B.C.’s Frank LaBounty as four-time Canadian wheelchair champions.

“The keys to success this week were sticking to what we do, sticking to our game plan,” said Dash, whose team from the Moose Jaw Curling Centre was rounded out by Moose Gibson and coach Lorraine Arguin. “The first game we came out, we were a little bit nervous – home ice, in front of friends and family. Halfway through the week we picked it up, dropped the nerves, and we were on our way. We followed through with what our coach (Arguin) said. She’s been with us for years and we really appreciate all she does.”
